Congratulations!
You're off to a great start.

Graduates have worked for and completed a curriculum that merits recognition...that printed piece of paper that says they "Did It!".

Where are the majority of these printed acknowledgements?

Usually in a drawer, or pressed between pages of an atlas... or just plain forgotten.

What can you do, the source of this printed acknowledgement to avoid this inevitable fate?

Framing diplomas and certificates will definitely keep them out of the atlas and most likely displayed proudly on a wall. Your student's accomplishment will hang in their home, office or place of business, thanks to the generosity of the institution of higher learning that graduated them... YOU!

Thanks to you people will see the certificates and diplomas, hear about their school and the great student experience - all positive feedback for YOU.

They're saying great things about your school.

We are offering reasonable framing packages to schools and institutions who care enough to thank their students while growing the business of education.
